

Shared Living

Kinsight's Shared Living Program enables people to live in individualized arrangements of their choice. Shared Living provides genuine opportunities for people to develop relationships that occur naturally when they share a home together.

About Shared Living

Compatibility is the key to successful Shared Living arrangements. As we match Providers to individuals, we seek people whose personalities, lifestyles and interests will complement the people they support.

The Shared Living experience offers opportunities for people to expand their network of personal relationships and help make new connections in the community.

With appropriate supports, individuals can enjoy a fulfilling lifestyle that promotes growth and self determination, community inclusion and above all, caring relationships and shared experiences.

Monitoring & Safeguards

Kinsight is committed to the health, safety and well-being of the individuals supported by the Shared Living Program. The Shared Living Coordinator visits regularly and speaks with the person, and also with their family members, to ensure that they are satisfied and that the Shared Living Provider is fulfilling their obligations.

The Shared Living Provider ensures that people's existing relationships with their family, friends, and community members are honoured.

I really like living here. Julia is a great cook. She takes me out to different places and helps me with budgeting. Julia made a great birthday party for me last November. All of my friends came to Homestead restaurant. I had such a good time.
